BOTH LITIGANTS
HASTEN TO APPEAL

Supreme Court Grants Writ to One, and Will Consider Case on Merits.

Both sides to a suit in the Circuit Court of Norfolk city were so completely dissatisfied with its judgment that they instituted a race to see which could appeal the quickest. Petitions from each litigant were hurried to the Supreme Court. That tribunal has solved the problem by granting an appeal to one and by not acting on the other, giving the latter, however, the right of having its petition printed in the record of the case.

The suit was brought by the Lambert's Point Company against the Norfolk and Western Railway Company. These concerns are owners of contiguous land on the eastern shore of the Elizabeth River at Lambert's Point. It appeared that the port warden's line (the line of navigability) at that place was of greater extent than the combined shore lines of the two owners. The plaintiff therefore asked that the line be apportioned and that a division be between them, over the flats from low water to the port warden's line, be defined and established by decree of court.

A commissioner was appointed, and in his report he recommended that the entire shore line be not considered, but that there be excluded a large section of the Norfolk and Western's shore line south of Lambert's Point, and of the plaintiff's shore north of that point. A second report was later filed, and the parties were dissatisfied with the decrees rendered by the court. The Lambert's Point Company gets the appeal in the Supreme Court, but the Norfolk and Western may come in and file such papers as it wishes.

QUEER THIEF, THIS

Robs Same House Five Times, and Always on Wednesday.

For the fifth time since Christmas Day, thieves on Wednesday broke into the residence 2204 East Grace Street, occupied by a widow, who is forced to be away from home during the day at her work, and escaped with three clocks and other things. The trip before they got a child's bank. A complaint has been made to the police, and Major Werner has been asked to put a special man on duty in that neighborhood. The house has attracted attention and the occupant of the dwelling is badly alarmed. On each occasion Wednesday was selected for the robbery. The house was always entered between the hours of 5 A. M. and 2 P. M. And every time a door or a window was broken.

As much as the robbers pick the same day and practically the same hour, there is a belief around there that he is something of a ghost. It is believed, however, that it is the work of a common sneak thief, who is familiar with the surroundings and who knows when the woman is away. A trap has been set for him.

ECLIPSE THIS EVENING

Very little of the eclipse of the sun will be visible in Richmond this afternoon. It will be, however, slightly observable here and in all the Southern States south of Washington, the sun setting with the eclipse on it. In New York and New England it will not be visible at all. The line of visibility as a partial eclipse is south of Cape Hatteras, Pittsburg, Racine, Prairie du Chien, Fort Sully, Galatin Clay and Astoria.

The path of the total eclipse, which is an unusually large one, lies wholly in the Pacific Ocean, beginning at sunrise near the southeast corner of Australia and passing over the Friendly Islands and the Phoenix Islands, and terminates at sunset on the southern coast of Guatemala. The duration of totality is nearly five minutes.

Got Streets Mixed. In the report printed yesterday of a police raid on a gambling resort, the types incorrectly stated that the prisoners were taken from a house in the rear of 405 North Seventh Street. The address should have been 405 North Seventeenth Street.

PRODIGAL BACK AND HUNGRY, TOO

Little Linwood Tucker, Found by Police, Rides Home in Big Automobile.

Linwood Tucker, eight years old, living at 1225 West Broad Street, caused his parents great anxiety and the police no little trouble yesterday when he failed to return home from school. A general search was instituted, and he was located shortly before 10 o'clock last night. The first news came to the Second Police Station, and he was carried home, much to his delight, in the police patrol.

Linwood is unusually precocious for his age. He told Policeman Rotte, who acted as his escort, that he went to school yesterday morning with 5 cents in his pocket to pay his fare on the car when the lessons were over. As usual he went to St. Andrew's School, where he was a member of the kindergarten, but after school was dismissed his car fare went for candy, and he accompanied one of his young friends to the playgrounds, where they made merry until darkness fell. Then he was afraid to walk the streets alone, and wished for his nickel.

Some one found him and telephoned the police. When the patrol wagon arrived, Linwood was all smiles. He confided to Mr. Rotte that he had never before ridden in an automobile, and therefore was glad he had been lost. The going brought his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tucker, to the door double quick, and Linwood was received with ceremonies befitting a youthful prodigal. He got something to eat—not the fattened calf—and then was tucked away in bed.

Later on in the night there was a report of the loss of another eight-year-old boy named Cooley, of 1319 Chaffin Street. The person making the report did not give any names, and nothing had been heard of him up to an early hour this morning. The child was said to have disappeared about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The City Directory does not list the name of any such family at that address.

Called to Reidsville. Dr. H. Ward Randolph was called yesterday to Reidsville, Va., on account of the illness of his mother-in-law, Mrs. George Nelson Reid. He was accompanied by his wife and by her sister, Miss Elizabeth Reid.

ACTIVE CANVASS
FOR NEW RAILWAY

Committee of Business Men Actively at Work to Secure Subscriptions.

The committee which is working to secure subscriptions for the Richmond and Northern Neck Railroad, is making an active canvass, and has every indication of success. It was reported yesterday that the public was responding liberally to the call, and that the fund needed would be raised. This committee is composed of the following well-known business men:

James D. Crump, O. H. Funsten, John B. Parcell, T. L. Stokes, W. B. Broadus, Leon Wallers, W. H. Miles, Fred E. Notting, Edmund Stradwick, Fritz Sittlerding, George W. Warren, William M. SERIOUSLY HURT
BY STREET CAR

Man Not Fully Identified Hit While at Park Avenue and Robinson.

THREE NAMES ON PAPERS
Conductor and Motorman Claim That He Staggered Across Track.

Apparently under the influence of liquor, a man who may be William A. Whelan, of Cincinnati, Ohio; Bill Sheelan or William Whelan, according to papers found in his pockets, staggered in front of Broad and Main Street car No. 122 at Park Avenue and Robinson Street last night and was seriously hurt. He was carried by Dr. Tume, in charge of the ambulance, to the Virginia Hospital, where he had not recovered consciousness early this morning.

Examinations made by Dr. Tume and the hospital staff did not disclose injuries that in general result fatally. He was hurt in the left side, where it is probable that several ribs are broken, and there is a bad gash on the back of his head.

Claim He Staggered. Motorman G. W. Bankart and Conductor G. H. Walker, who were in charge of the car, said that the man was staggering along the sidewalk until they came within about fifteen feet of him. Then he walked directly in front of the car, and before the brakes could be put on he was thrown from the track. A boy, who seemed to be about fifteen years of age, was the only other witness to the accident, and he ran away before he could be summoned.

From the number of papers in his pockets, the man evidently was a collector, but none led positively to his identification. There was a letter from Cincinnati, directed to William Whelan, and another envelope addressed to Bill Sheelan. Also there was a pawn ticket, made out to William Whelan. Nothing that would lead to his address or business in this city was found.

His age could be ascertained last night, his age seemed to be about forty-two. At the Virginia Hospital he was made comfortable, but a thorough examination will not be made until this morning. The physicians think that his injuries will not result seriously. It is stated that before the accident he appeared in one of the West End stores, where he was very disagreeable and showed every sign of being intoxicated.

INDORSE CANDIDATE

Central Trades Council May Support Legislative Aspirant.

It is possible that the Central Trades and Labor Council of Richmond will at its meeting to-night indorse some candidate for the House of Delegates, which will be conducted by the chamber organization. Five delegates will also be named to attend the meeting of the State Federation of Labor, which will be held in this city in June. A smoker will follow the business session.

James B. Casey was the member of the last Legislature representing the organized labor element of Richmond. He made a successful race, and this has encouraged the action which will be taken by the council. Mr. Casey has removed from the State, and is consequently not eligible for re-election.

Battalion Has Parade. A good turnout of the members of the First Battalion, First Regiment, was had last night at the battalion drill, which was conducted by Bill of the City Hall. Major L. T. Price was in command, aided by Adjutant Charles E. Sneed, Captain-Elect Alvin R. Cousins was in charge of Company F, for the command of which he has been chosen.

The officers were well pleased with the showing made by the first battalion parade of the year. Special Services To-Night. At 8:15 to-night there will be a prayer and consecration rally in the main auditorium of Seventh Street Christian Church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. M. D. C. MacLachlan. There will be special music by the choir, and the chorus choir, which has been formed for the Power meetings, will also be present and assist in the singing. This will be a very interesting meeting, and a large attendance is expected. The ordinance of baptism will be administered at the close of the services.

Murdered in Washington. Beverly E. Richardson, a son of Charles E. Richardson, superintendent of Riverview Cemetery, was married in Washington city yesterday to Miss Evelyn C. Powell of this city. Peyton Pollard and Miss Maude E. Shelton, of Richmond, were also married in Washington yesterday.

SALESMAN KILLED IN SLEEPING CAR

Gas Exploded by Flagman's Lantern, Results Fatally Near Rocky Mount.

PROBSTEIN THE VICTIM
Same Train Smashed in Tunnel After Leaving Byrd Street Station.

Caused by an explosion of gas, ignited by the flagman's lantern, the Pullman car "Yucca," attached to the northbound Atlantic Coast Line train No. 56, was partially destroyed by fire at Rocky Mount, N. C., early yesterday morning. J. A. Probstein, a traveling salesman of New York, was suffocated in his seat and died soon after being removed from the car. Flagman J. C. Rust, of this city, was badly burned about the face by the first flash, and Transfer Mail Clerk W. F. Ireland, of Rocky Mount, was burned about his hands while assisting in rescuing the other passengers. There were nine passengers in the car, but all saved. Mr. Probstein escaped without injury. Their losses were not heavy, and it is said that the car is not beyond repair.

Not Aroused by Flash. Except for the fact that he was near the end of the car in which the explosion took place, Mr. Probstein's chances for escape were better than those of other passengers. His berth had not been made down, and he was sleeping, fully dressed, in his seat. It is thought, however, that he had already suffered partial asphyxiation and was not aroused by the flash and noise of the explosion.

Before the rescuing party could reach him he was burned. He died in a short while after he had been removed, in spite of the fact that there was immediate medical attention. Mr. Probstein boarded the Pullman at Florence, and was en route to this city. His body was turned over to a Rocky Mount undertaker, awaiting advices from New York.

Though it is known that the immediate cause of the accident was the ignition of the gas by the flame of Flagman Rust's lantern, the company is at a loss to explain how the cock to the tank became opened. The flagman heard the hissing of the escaping gas, and, thinking that the air was on, ran back to the rear. As he held the lantern under the edge of the car there was a blinding flash, and the Pullman was soon in flames. Mail Clerk Ireland and members of the train crew quickly aroused the other passengers and soon had all except Mr. Probstein out of the way of danger.

A dispatch from New York last night said that Mrs. Probstein, a bride of four months, was just about to start South to meet her husband in Richmond to-day, when she was notified by telephone that he had been killed. She left last night with her father and brother-in-law to take the body home.

Wreck in Tunnel. Even after reaching this city, delayed from the accident at Rocky Mount, Ill. luck seemed to follow the train. In the tunnel under Gamble's Hill two of the cars became uncoupled. Backing in the tunnel to pick them up, the engineer miscalculated his distance and crashed into them. One end of the baggage car was crushed. Both the baggage master and the mail clerk were in their cars, but neither was injured. Trains over the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad were delayed some time as a result of the accident.

NEGRO HURT AT ACCA

Badly Mangled While Trying to Beat Ride on Train.

With his hands mangled and several injuries about the head and face, an unidentified negro was found lying near the tracks at Acca last night in an unconscious condition. He was placed on a car, brought to the city over the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad, and taken to the Retreat for the Sick by the city ambulance.

It is thought that he was beating his way on one of the trains and was thrown off. He was very well dressed, and had $5.00 in his pocket. At the hospital he was carried at once to the operating table. There were eight or nine bad cuts on his face, one ear was partially torn off, and he had suffered a compound fracture of the right arm. It is also possible that concussion of the head, though last night there was no sign of fracture of the skull.

SOCIETY'S AGENTS
WILL BE ARRESTED

I. L. U. Representatives in Virginia Continue to Defy Laws.

BIRD DAY TO BE OBSERVED
May 4 Designated for Observation of Birthday of Audubon.

Persistence is evidently one of the virtues of the International Liberty Union, erstwhile of Dayton, O., but which has found a yeast in temporary resting place at Covington, Ky. Although the public in Virginia has been repeatedly warned against dealing with this concern, and although any business solicited in this State is illegal, its agents are still occasionally heard from.

Inquiries made to the International Liberty Union are coming in to the Bureau of Insurance. In reply the commissioner notifies the public that no reliance should be placed in the concern, that it is not licensed to transact business in this State, and that its agents will be arrested on sight. One Critchlow and his wife were once found to be the principal owners of the stock of the company, which was engaged in soliciting membership largely among the negroes of the South. The impression was left in its literature that its name was the International Labor Union. Forbearance having ceased to be a virtue, Colonel Burton yesterday sent a notification to Charles W. Bell, the Insurance Commissioner of Kentucky, calling his attention to the presence of the I. L. U. at Covington, in his State. Some facts connected with the plan and methods of the organization were detailed, and the Kentucky official was requested to look after them. Prosecutions will follow any detection of agents engaged in trying to secure business in Virginia.

OBSERVE BIRD DAY

Schools Will Celebrate Birthday of Audubon on May 4.

Governor Mann yesterday issued a request to the people of Virginia that May 4, the birthday of John James Audubon, should be observed especially in the public schools. This is done at the especial solicitation of Miss Katherine H. Stuart, field agent of the Audubon Society in Virginia.

The day mentioned has already been set apart by the State Board of Education as Bird Day in the schools. Many efforts have been made of recent years to secure the interest of teachers and pupils in study and preservation of bird life, such being part of the program at the annual State conferences on education.

Public school teachers are furnished with material regarding birds, their habits, their value and the loss involved in their destruction, with the request that it be imparted to those under their charge. In this way it is hoped that the next generation will be imbued with the desire to protect. Instead of to destroy the feathered songsters. The birthday of the naturalist Audubon is regarded as a suitable time for public exercises in the schools.

Wood in Exhibit

Sixty-seven pieces of Virginia wood have been donated to the Virginia mineral, timber and historic exhibit by the Ritter Lumber Company. The wood was grown in Buchanan. The specimens are being cut, polished and placed in position in the Hall of Exhibits in the State Library building, by Custodian John Blount. Some of the pieces are of enormous size.

Boys Get Certificates. The Governor yesterday issued 123 engraved certificates to the members of the boys' corn clubs in the public schools who made more than fifty bushels of shelled corn to the acre of land last season.

It is expected that these elaborate certificates, signed by the Governor and the Secretary of the Commonwealth, and bearing the seal of the State, will be treasured, and will spur the recipients and their friends on to greater efforts.

A "special" certificate is given to Maurice Rogers, of Sutherland, Dinwiddie county, who beat the record by raising 179.7 bushels to the acre. Those who made more than 100 bushels are given a first grade certificate, those between seventy-five and 100, a second grade, and those between fifty and seventy-five, a third grade.

LANGHORNE FINED
IN POLICE COURT

Man Arrested by Major Werner Punished for Annoying Women in Street.

J. M. Langhorne, who was arrested Wednesday night by Chief of Police Werner for annoying women on the street, was fined $50 in the Police Court yesterday morning. He explained to Justice Crutchfield that he had been drinking, and said that he did not know they were "ladies." He was very sorry, and would gladly apologize if he could find out who they were. The court considered the intent the same no matter who the women were, and after reprimanding Langhorne for his act, imposed the fine. Major Werner was the only one to appear against him.

The arrest was made by Chief Werner while in plain clothes, but the man would hardly have got away even had he not been near, as the fire department employees in the top of the City Hall plainly heard the disturbance, and, looking out of the window, saw a good deal of it. One of them immediately telephoned to police headquarters, where Detective-Sergeant Bailey was on duty. He rushed out of the building, but met Major Werner coming in with the prisoner, Langhorne, who is a married man, was bailed soon after his arrest, and was able to spend the night with his family.

Judge Waddill Returns. Judge Edgar Waddill, Jr., of the United States District Court, returned yesterday from Norfolk.

PAY POLL TAXES
BEFORE MAY 6
LAMP CONTRACT UP
AGAIN TO-NIGHT

Many Contests to Interest Democratic Voters Next November.

Poll taxes for the year 1916 must be paid all over Virginia on or before May 6 in order for citizens to be eligible to vote in the November election next fall, and in the various primaries which precede it.

Deputy Treasurer Isaac Held said yesterday that approximately 8,500 Richmonders had paid their poll taxes and were qualified, but that recently the payments had not been as brisk as is usually the case within a week or two of the end of the time limit. Both in Richmond and Henrico county surprise is expressed over the apparent slowness of voters in qualifying, when it is evident that there will be some hot contests on in the fall. All over the State voters will be called on in a Democratic primary to vote for two United States Senators. In every county and city members of the Council are elected to represent the county county officials are up for election, and there is every prospect of a special election in Richmond in the event that the office of City Collector is declared vacant.

A city official discussing the situation said yesterday that without asking sides or expressing any preference, he would think that every intelligent citizen would desire to express himself on the question of the senatorship. Besides this, Richmond will have many matters pending before the next Legislature. It will ask a number of charter changes in a general election in November, so that there would be every prospect of a hot local campaign in which every citizen of Richmond would desire to have his say, and in which many will regret to find themselves disqualified by their own negligence.

In all the counties treasurers, Commonwealth's attorneys, sheriffs and other lucrative offices are to be filled, and warm campaigns may be anticipated.

To Bring Him Back To-Day. Detective Kellam leaves for Norfolk this morning to bring back Augustus Holly, who will answer here in charges of passing two bogus checks on Mrs. A. G. Moss, of Charles City. Holly has been serving a term in the Norfolk jail and will be released to-day.

Held for Stealing Bicycle. Clinton Conway, colored, of Petersburg, visited the city Wednesday, and in passing Richmond Academy took a bicycle belonging to one of the students, thus saving his fare home. Detective Kellam visited the boy's home in Petersburg and returned with both Conway and the wheel.

Marriage Licenses. Marriage licenses were issued in the clerk's office of the Hastings Court yesterday to Julian E. Ray and Miss Nannie Jane Stanley, Edwin Garland Tucker and Miss Halley Ethel Alley.

Appellate Court Opens Tuesday. The spring term of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals will open on Tuesday.

Smith Named Receiver. H. L. Smith, Jr., was yesterday named receiver for Jon Silverstein, bankrupt, by Judge Edmund Waddill, Jr., in the United States District Court. The receiver executed a bond of $10,000.

Hammaker in Bankruptcy. Michael Scheriff, a hattermaker, yesterday filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy in the office of the clerk of the United States District Court. His liabilities aggregate $2,160, while assets are estimated at about $2,600.

Falls of Quorum. The Council Committee on Water failed of a quorum last night, and has been called to meet to-night at 7:30 o'clock.

Council Committee to Hear Further Report on Much Discussed Problem.

The Council Committee on Light will hear a report to-night from a subcommittee on the much-discussed problem of street gas lamps, which has been a bone of contention in the committee for several months past. The committee has twice recommended to the Council confirmation of award of contract with the American Street Lighting Company for rental of lamps, at $12 each per year, the city to furnish gas and on two occasions the Council has rejected the award and recommitted the papers. The gas lighting goes on under a clause of last year's contract, which says that sixty days' notice to vacate must be given by either party. It has been stated on the floor of the Council that the city can buy the fixtures for less than the rental cost, but members of the committee express the belief that such articles are patented, and that a rental contract is better even if more expensive. There have been some stormy sessions, and the vote has nearly always stood 8 to 3, the same three—Aldermen Mitchell, Powers and Melton—standing against confirmation of the present award on the ground that there has not been proper competition and that other bidders have been practically excluded from the field. Whatever recommendation the Light Committee makes, the subject of street gas lamps will probably be discussed at some length on the floor of the Council next Monday night.

Other meetings for to-night are the Committee on Streets, St. John's Burying Ground and Markets. The Committee on Local Assessments has been called for 7:45 o'clock.

SENT UGLY POSTAL Hampton Man Arrested for Mailing It to Richmond Girl.

Charged with sending an obscene postal card to Miss Virginia Sheffield, of Richmond, Eaton Dandridge, a well-known young bricklayer of Hampton city, was arrested in and charged yesterday for the United States postal authorities.

He was taken before United States Commissioner Luther M. Parker, and bailed for his appearance in the court at Norfolk. Dandridge sent the card to the Sheffield, who is employed in a laundry in Richmond, as a joke, but the postal authorities took exception to a written statement on the card, and Dandridge was later indicted by a grand jury in Richmond.

Casselman Enters Suit Against Hlalas in Federal Court.

Lawrence Casselman, a local real estate dealer, has entered suit in the United States Circuit Court here against R. F. Hlalas, of Pittsburg, Pa., in which a receiver is asked for to take charge of Adre Hill Farm, 1,200 acres lying in Henrico and Charles City counties, and the Nansemond apartment in Washington, D. C. The defendant wants ownership of this property because he alleges that he spent $5,595 in this real estate upon certain assurances made by the defendant. The litigation is the chancery one, and will likely be heard in a few days by Judge Edmund Waddill, Jr. Attorneys Alexander H. Sands and Samuel A. Anderson, of Richmond, and L. M. Vance, of Charles City county, represent the plaintiff.
